FOREWORD

The 1962 Manet is a memory book of the spirit of North through impressions. The concept of this spirit is symbolized in such impressions as reflect the concentration of studying, the exuberance at a rally, the esprit de corps of a football game, the joy of receiving a well-deserved honor, and even the tight-lipped facing up to an occasional defeat.

And that tingling sensation associated with the excitement of an almost never-ending series of anticipations, with that random frown of annoyance, with that treasured nod of approval, and with that priceless smile of gratitude—all, every last one of them, the spirit that is North in our organizations, our athletics, our classrooms, our teachers, and indeed ourselves! . . .

May that same tingling sensation burst out all over every time we relive page by page the impressions that are the spirit of North in the Manet of '62.

As we again begin the diurnal early-morning trudging, riding, and hitchhiking toward North, we realize that the summer vacation has ended. A multitude of program and information cards are awaiting our attention and remind us that the frivolity of summer must be converted to concentrated academic effort. The rapid accumulation of books, clothing, and litter in our lockers is proof that the school year is indeed underway.

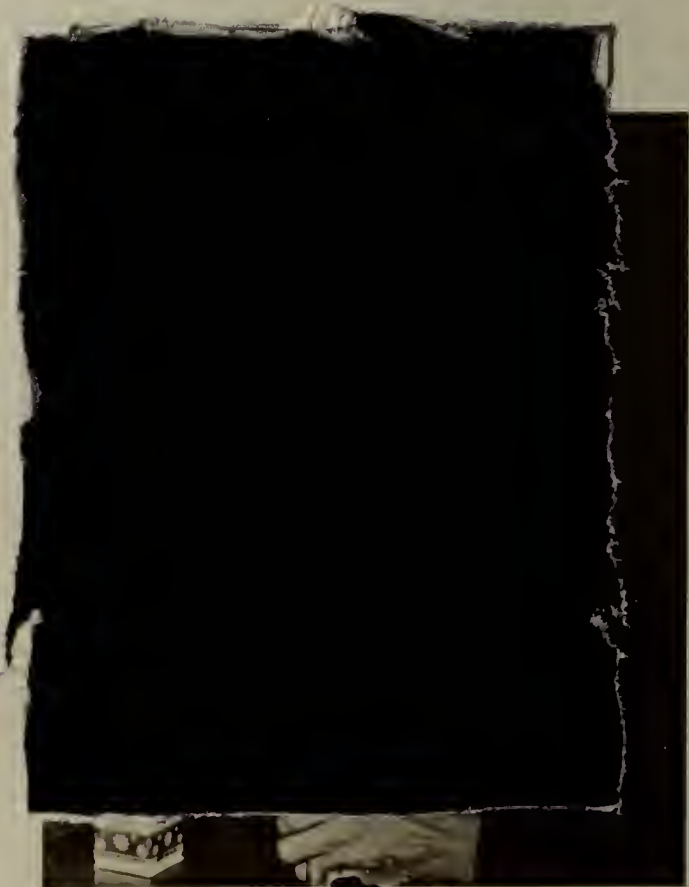

Stimulated by the recent vacation, teachers vigorously give burdensome assignments which we tackle during study periods and at home. We hasten to the library for a start on a research project or in search of outside reading to fill our "copious" free time. The demand upon our concentration and creativity at times causes us to gaze out of the windows—appealing to Nature for inspiration.

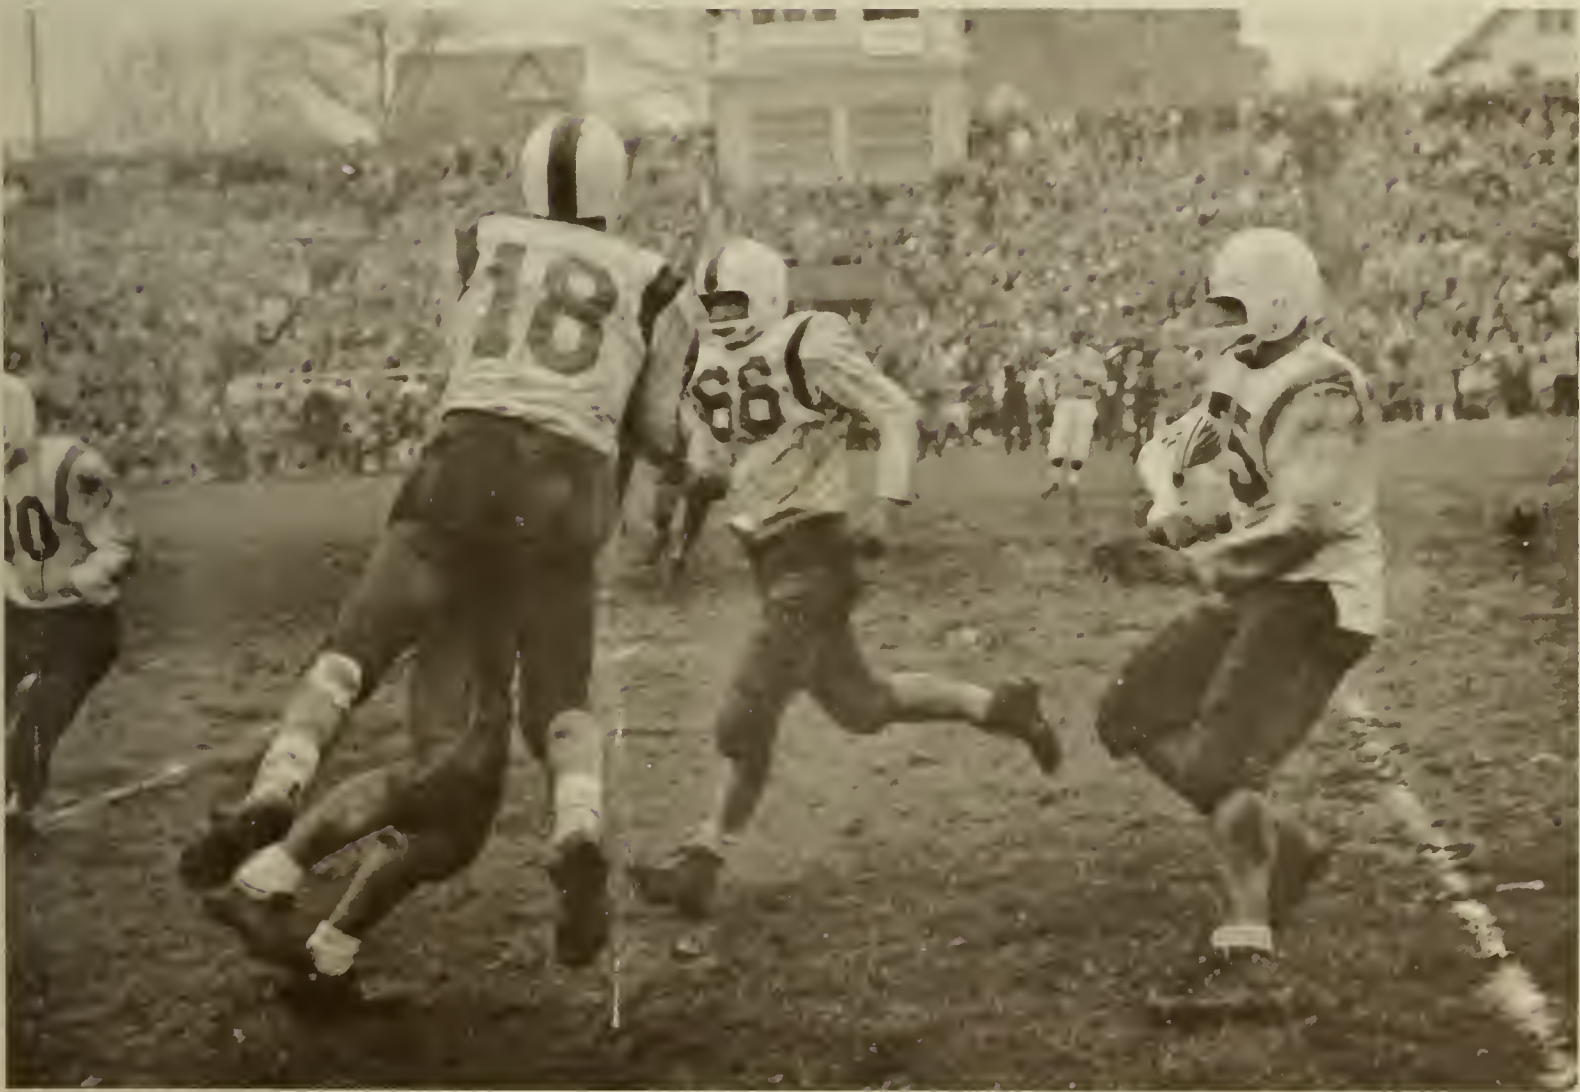

All, however, is not drudgery. Between classes and at lunch we can drown academic worries and responsibilities in conversation, thought, and food. With the weekends and holidays come athletic events, special organization functions, dances, and occasionally the treat of watching faculty members labor while we enjoy ourselves.

In this atmosphere of school achievement coupled with school enjoyment we have emerged as an appreciative, determined, and loyal student body. Our characteristics, manifested on the football field as well as in the classroom, comprise the Spirit of North Quincy High School . . . It is to this Spirit that the Manet of 1962 is dedicated.

ORGANIZATIONS

STUDENT COUNCIL

Just as the sun is rising, the sleepy members of the Student Council make their way through the empty North corridors to the meeting in Room 224. These Thursday morning meetings at 7:45 are headed by President Louis Malzone, Vice President Debbie Anglim, Secretary Linda Peterson, Treasurer Jeanne Giallongo, and are supervised and guided by faculty adviser Mr. Roberts.

This year's Council members have run three successful dances; have sold North banners, bookcovers, stickers, and decals; have sponsored a bus for one of the football games; and have decorated the school for Christmas to show that North has Christmas spirit as well as school spirit. In addition, members have run several assemblies, have attended regional conferences to improve North's council, and have started the Student Council Service Plaque, an award to show the school's appreciation to teachers who have given much of their free time to North.

Thus the Student Councilors have done more than help North's spirit by selling North articles and sponsoring a football bus. They have shown their own spirit in their willingness to give up that extra half-hour of sleep every Thursday and in their readiness to spend their time and energy in working for the Student Council and for North Quincy High School.

Spirited Jeanne, Deb, Lin, Lou, and Mr. Roberts preside over the Student Council suggestion box.

RIFLE CLUB

Casual pedestrians passing Atlantic Junior High on a Monday night will never forget their startled impressions of the ping-ping of North's Rifle Club at its weekly practice. Sponsored by Mr. Burgess, the club is headed by Craig Jackson, president; James Gormley, vice-president; Barbara Apsit, secretary; Richard Quaglia, treasurer; and Richard Shovelton, range master. Once a week, the spirited members of this club get together determined to sink Maggie's drawers in favor of raising a bull's eye. Anyone observing practice in full swing can readily see the seriousness of these men on the range as they perfect their skills in handling a rifle. After a few nerve-wracking minutes of trying to "hit the bull's-eye," the members relax; small groups can be seen in deepest concentration as they score and compare targets. Regardless of the results—most of which merit sharpshooters' medals—every member, from the greenest beginner to the most experienced veteran, has a good time. All in all, North is proud of its sharp-shooting rifle club.

The range high-scoring record is in peril as Betty proudly computes her score.

Hoping that the bullet's impression will be limited to the balanced apple, Craig winces as Bill plays twentieth-century William Tell—much to the horror of Cynthia, Carol, and Virginia.

Officers Lou, Fred, Steve, Paul, and "Pumpsie" enthusiastically plan Key Club activities.

Under the spirited leadership of Mr. Paul Carlin, faculty advisor; Fred Ritchie, president; Paul Gullicksen, vice-president; Lou Malzone, treasurer; and Steve Ricciardi and Dick Paone, secretaries the Key Club has compiled an impressive year of service.

From the weekly Wednesday dawn meetings in Rm. 206 came the highlights of our 1961-1962 season: helping the Retarded Children's School in Quincy, conducting a "get-out-and-vote" campaign, polishing the school's trophies, sponsoring dances to honor North's athletes, holding a parent and teacher appreciation banquet, and presenting awards to outstanding citizens.

The diversity and success characterizing the program of the Key Club have served to carry effectively the spirit of North Quincy High School both to the student body and to the community.

Practicing what he preaches, Charly helps carry through the Key Club's support of North's dress-up campaign.

NURSES' CAREER CLUB

Janet, Joan, and Gerry anticipate a world-shaking discovery as Miss Gray probes into what makes Pete tick.

The Nurses' Career Club through its varied activities is achieving its main purpose: to direct North's future nurses toward the field of nursing most suited to each of them. Under the direction of Miss Gray, the girls and the officers, Gerry Lemaire, Maureen Devine, Janet Kirkland, and Joan Lundgren, are learning much about the nursing profession and at the same time are performing tasks that symbolize the life they have chosen: a life of service.

The girls learned tangibles about a career in the U. S. Services at the student nurse program that was presented to them by Lt. Cmdr. Perron, Lt. Ianacone, and Capt. Murphy of the Armed Forces. Knowing that many adults want to help them, these future nurses have acquired a charitable spirit themselves. At Christmas they adopted a family of six whose father was unemployed. The girls collected money and gifts to help this family have a happy holiday. Both in giving and in taking the Nurses' Career Club has developed a spirit that is making many favorable impressions.

Making sure the patient is comfortable, Miss Gray checks the effectiveness of Mary Ann's first aid on Susan.

PROM AND DANCE COMMITTEES

Debbie, Denny, "Soupy," Lou, Dave, and Joan seem on the verge of a spirited Prom idea.

Last fall, with a fine show of spirit, the Prom Committee for 1962 began its planning for the all-important night. Chairman Debbie Anglim and Co-Chairmen Dennie Allen and Bob Campbell, with the help of senior-class advisor Donahue, organized the committee into sub-committees and the Prom was on its way! The date was set, the favors were chosen and, in spite of much coaxing, were kept a secret, the programs were planned and printed, and the invitations were sent out to the senior class and its guests. After the last-minute preparations of arranging for the flowers and for the roast beef or turkey dinners, the Prom was ready. The gay couples made their way on May 25, 1962 to the beautiful King Phillip Ballroom for a long-to-be remembered evening of dancing, dining, and enjoyment.

While the prom committee was busy with its preparations, the dance committees were working to help finance the Prom. The Senior Class held three record hops: the Gridiron Gallop, the Skid-Hop, and the Bermuda Hop. For each of these, the dance committees, headed by our class officers, had to make decorations and put them up, sell tickets, and volunteer for admission and refreshment duty. They plunged in with gusto and made our dances not only financially successful but also gaily festive.

Debbie and Joan help Dennie prepare for the Prom.

SKETCH CLUB

A stroke of the brush makes all the difference in the world to the masterpieces of Sandee, Jan, and Mary.

In the artistic setting of 401, Belle starts a rough sketch of a new mural.

Thanks are in order for many artistic decorations which brightened up North and raised its spirit this year. The creators of the murals, figures, and posters seen around North are the members of the Sketch Club. Under the direction of Miss Sawitsky, the club decorated the Christmas and Easter assemblies and brightened up the trophy cases and Mr. King's office with eye-catching displays. It also helped outside the school by providing posters and displays for organizations such as the Quincy Teachers Association. Thus when anything artistic was needed to add a festive air to a function or to a display, the Sketch Club willingly and skillfully did the job and made this year a colorful and decorative one.

TRI-HI-Y

You can't beat the quartet of Chris, Sue, Sandy, and Corinne, when it comes to formulating ideas.

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, church, and community, high standards of Christian character." With this aim in mind, the high-spirited girls from the two senior Tri-Hi-Y clubs at North this year directed their efforts toward useful projects and healthful fun. Lambda Chi, headed by Pat Worth, and Tri-Yakoos, led by Sandy Colletti, each conducted money-raising projects, such as cake sales and car washes, to finance their various service activities, including bringing Christmas toys to orphans and sending food to a country overseas. The girls still found time for fun and each club held parties, dances, and hay rides, all of which added up to a very helpful and enjoyable year.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Prexie Pete ponders pressing Prom problems.

As the last strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" faded from Veterans Memorial Stadium on a June evening in 1961, the members of the Class of 1962 finally found themselves seniors. Before them lay the most crucial and, they hoped, the most memorable year of their lives—a last chance to make an enduring impression in a school already of impressive tradition.

Well aware of the job ahead of them, President Pete Rubin, Vice-President Janet D'Angelo, Secretary Deb Wye, and Treasurer Bob Brudno, before leaving for their summer vacations, met with advisor Donahue to establish goals and outline class activities for the coming year. In September, with the Prom and Class Day Committee chairmen already chosen and the dates of dances and other main activities okayed, the officers set out to convert their plans to realities.

While continuing the perennial senior class committees, the officers organized three additional groups: a Spirit Committee for focusing attention on and fostering enthusiasm for the endeavors of our athletic squads; a Scrapbook Committee for maintaining a record of public recognition received by North and its students in Greater Boston newspapers; and a Ledger Correspondence group for obtaining local coverage of North's activities.

Treasurer Bob: keeper of the exchequer.

Secretary Debbie writes up a report on the spirit committee.

Once these many committees were underway, the officers could turn to the duties of their individual offices: Pete checked the progress of committees through their chairmen, and made announcements to the class via homeroom representatives; Janet represented the class on the Student Council and at the same time worked on several committees; Deb handled all the class correspondence with the School Committee, King Phillip, etc.; Bob deposited money from class activities and pursued often-belligerent class members for dues.

More than half the class worked on the committees and produced two successful record hops, a Bermuda hop, cake sales, a gift to the school, Class Day, and of course the Prom. On June 2, 1962 "Pomp and Circumstance" was heard again—this time bringing to a close an impressive year of successful social, financial, and spirit-inspiring activities on the part of the senior class.

Veep Janet arrives early for a scrap-book committee meeting.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Lots of spirit and hard work lie behind the success of the junior class. Under the experienced leadership of Miss McCoy, officers Paul Gearin, Judy Leefe, Vicki Kowilcik, and Sandy Smart have led the class in many successful undertakings. The first dance, the Spooky Stomp, provided the necessary spirit to start the juniors working. They then made money and aroused spirit by selling red and black North tags and buttons for the Thanksgiving Game. Before they were fully recovered from this financial venture, they were selling tickets and planning details of their second dance: the Snowflake Shuffle. Finally, they reached the climax of the year. Months of planning on the parts of the ticket, decoration, and refreshments committees made the long-awaited Junior Prom the high point of the year, both socially and financially. Secure in the knowledge that they have both given and received of North's spirit, the members of the junior class eagerly approach their senior year.

Prexy Paul keeps up to date during an informal meeting.

Veep Judy studies the progress of the prom committees.

Treasurer Sandy balances the books.

Secretary Vicky rereads the minutes of the meeting.

LIBRARY STAFF

Elaine and Ginny are active campaigners for reading recruits.

Before school, after school, and every period during the day, members of the Library Staff are busy keeping our library in working order. Duties, which range from checking out books to filing magazines, are carried out under the direction of our sponsors, Miss Sherman and Miss Countie. Other activities such as the decoration of the library bulletin board are supervised by the committee chairmen.

Once a month meetings are held to carry on Library Staff business. Here we decide how to earn more money, hear reports from the various committees, and plan our activities for the year under the capable direction of our officers: Ellen McCloskey, president; Judith Hood, vice-president; Rosemary Palm, secretary; and Priscilla Doherty, treasurer.

Our Library Staff is primarily a service organization dedicated to serving those who use the library's facilities for homework or just for pleasure.

In May we have our own special pleasure: a Mother's Tea, not only our swan song of a busy year's association but also our social way of having meet together our mothers who have by example shown us the attitudes that we have used to make our Library Staff work so effective.

Ginny, Karen, Nancy, Elaine, Ellen, and Ginny play their parts in this "Biography of a Bookie Joint."

NORTH STAR

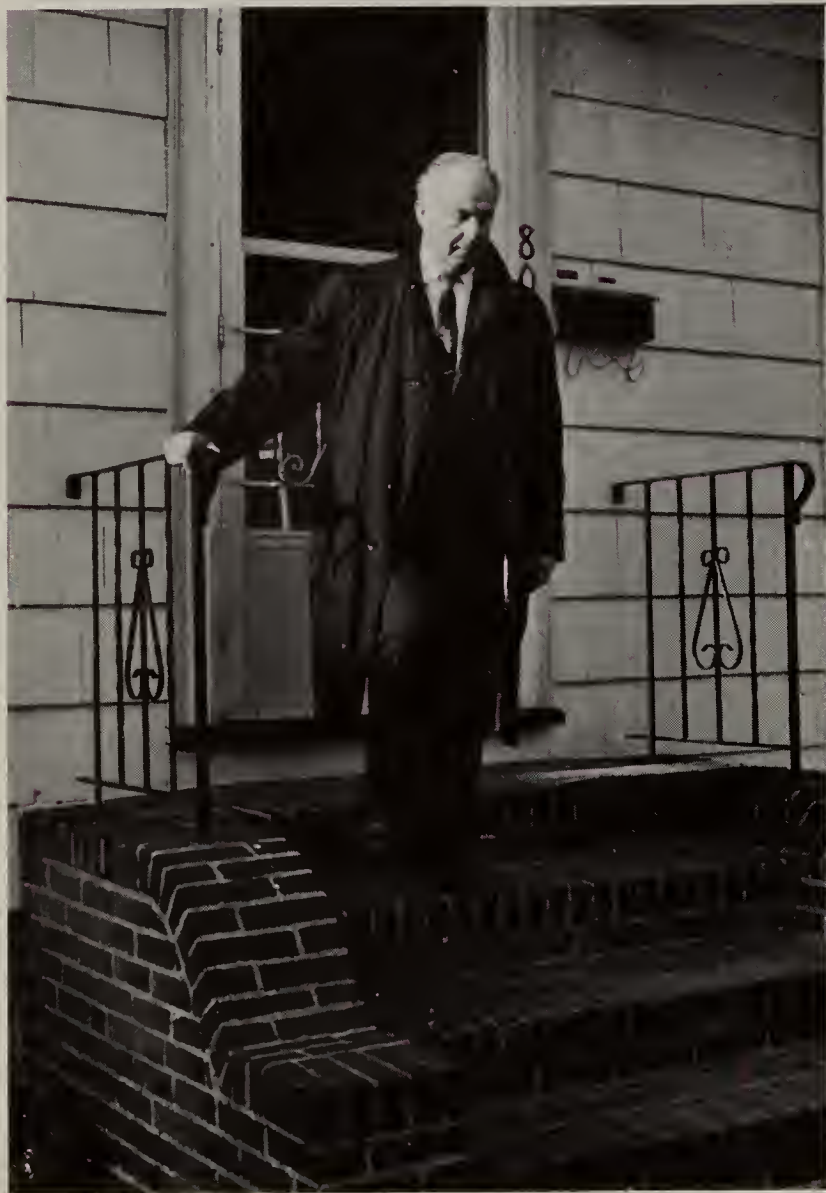

Judy, Bob, Carol, Bonnie, and Charlie take a "busman's holiday."

Denny typifies the many avid readers of The North Star.

"I nominate it for a Columbia Press Journalism Award" might be the words of Charly Gaughan and "I second it!" from Judy Perley. They are the proud editors of our own North Star. As no paper could be a paper without it, the business-like atmosphere in Press Room 223 is created by Carol Burrows and Bob Braga. These able "ad hounds" keep the whip cracking on Assistant Business-Managers Donna Larson and Brian Moore, and the rest of the Advertising Staff. Through the contributions of the Reporting Staff, the readers can hardly wait to get their hands on the next issue after just finishing digesting the present one, so lively and complete is the coverage of life at North. The subscribers will readily admit that they have been kept well aware of clubs through the efforts of Rita Swartz and Eugene Richards, the Activities Editors. As each edition of the North Star is put to press, our advisor Mr. Murphy and the rest of the Star's able staff realize that their work is helping to continue the traditional North spirit through the editorial and reportorial impressions the paper makes so favorably on its avid readers.

MANET

When Johnnie comes marching home again . . .

"Crop these pictures to the center of interest!" "Edit that copy!" "Stop wiping your brow and start captioning those candids!" Such expressions as these are verbal proof of the mental sweat required to produce our 1962 Manet. To the casual passer-by, 205 is just another room. But to the Manet editors, it is the axis around which their whole day revolves.

From 8 o'clock in the morning to 4 or 5 o'clock at night, Room 205 is the focal point of all Manet activities. Here the six editors and Mr. Hofferty develop the yearbook from its early theoretical stages of planning to its refinement and, eventually, to the finished product. Here Mary and Bill give Patron and Advertising assignments, collect receipts, and keep the financial records. Here Joe and Art undertake the task of pagination and plan and execute the layouts. Here Pete and Nancy give writing assignments and coordinate the efforts of the editorial and typing staffs. Here Mr. Hofferty carefully supervises all tasks. Words of praise, of helpful criticism, and often of severe disapproval are indispensable in the task of producing a memorable yearbook, as each editor knows.

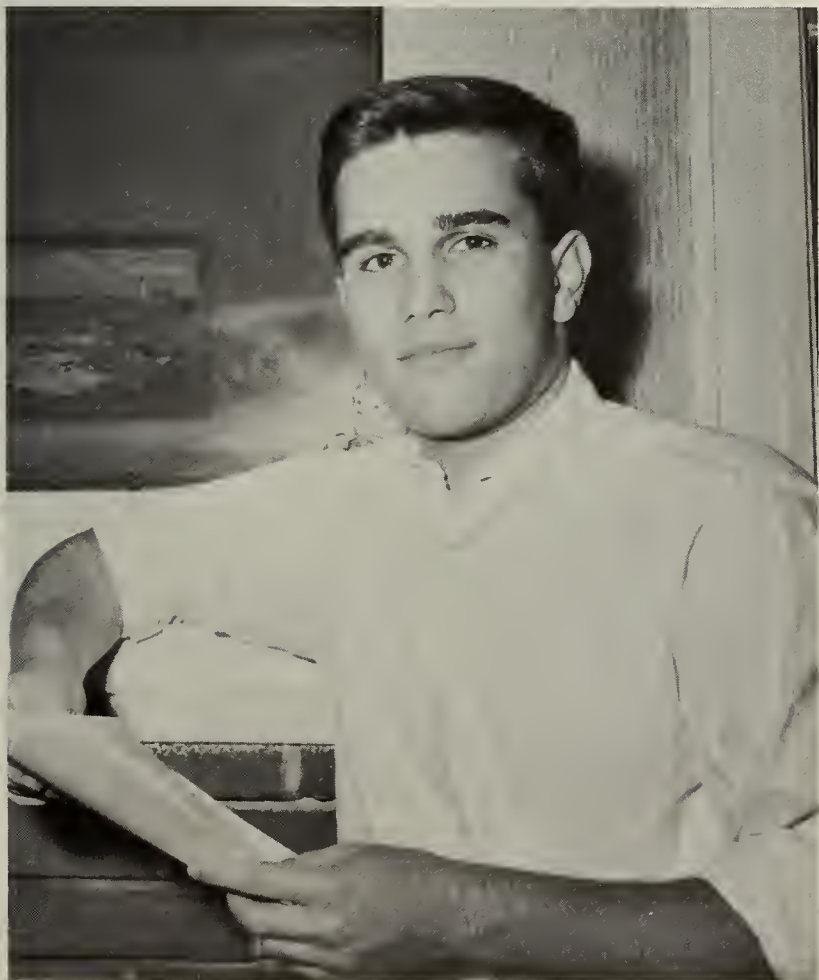

But the final result far outweighs the cost. Burning the midnight oil, sacrificing those lunch periods and study periods—all pay off when the finished Manet returns from Keller Press. The hours spent seeking perfection in minutest details and striving for excellence produce a 1962 Manet which not only symbolizes North's spirit, but also reflects the impressions of a dedicated advisor and of hard-working, yet spirited, editors.

PATRON STAFF

Armed to the teeth with her smile, Mary greets a prospective patron.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

A study in the character, scholarship, leadership, and service of the National Honor Society: Officers Stan, Judy, Carol, and Dick.

Judy and Bob admire the coveted pin of the Society.

Behind the rah-rah spirit of a North Quincy High School football game lies a subtle tradition to which an integration of character, scholarship, leadership, and service is fundamental. Each spring, members of the junior and senior classes who best exemplify these four components of North's impressive spirit receive proper recognition by induction into The National Honor Society.

Instrumental in planning and conducting this year's annual spring assembly at which newly selected members received pins and membership cards were the 1961-62 officers: Stanton Lockwood, president; Judith Greene, vice-president; Carol Burrows, secretary; and Richard Poole, treasurer. The objectives of this assembly were twofold: to stimulate other students to cultivate in themselves the qualities required for election to the society; and to call attention to individuals already demonstrating these qualities.

NATIONAL SPANISH HONOR SOCIETY

"Todos A Una:" Cristina, Juana, Carlos, Alano, and Diego prepare a Spanish Honor Society display.

Linda and Jean satisfy their thirst for Spanish culture as they prepare to see the movie "El Cid."

This year spirit has been running high in the National Spanish Honor Society, Capitulo Hernán Cortés, with Christine Jensen, President; Gilbert Allen, Vice President; Joan Achorn, Secretary; and Charles Gaughan, Treasurer. The sponsor, Miss Pratt, is the incentive for the aroused interest of the members in the Spanish language as well as in Spanish culture and activities.

The purposes of this club are to encourage and to recognize Spanish students who achieve excellence in their studies, to stimulate students to continue working with Spanish beyond high school, and to arouse interest in Spain and in Latin America. Membership is based on scholastic achievement: first year students must have an A average, while second and third year pupils must have an average of 85 per cent or better to qualify.

Activities have included attending Carl de Suze's Latin America lecture sponsored by the Pan American Society and holding a theater party for a matinee of "El Cid" during its limited showing in Boston. Future activities include the annual induction ceremonies, a Spanish supper, and a possible trip to the United Nations.

The traditional North Quincy Spirit is kept alive at our sports events by our twelve energetic Cheerleaders. Shouts of "Com'on, kids" by either Dianne Gillis, Kathy Langille, or Joyce Trubiano are proof enough that the girls practice tirelessly every day to cheer our teams on to victory. While they keep the spectators spellbound by their stunts, the girls induce team support from everyone. This is the spirit that has singled out North Quincy from other schools for many years.

"Whether we win or whether we lose, proud of the team we are" is the sentiment the Cheerleaders express at every game.

Just as the girls and the student body feel this way, so does Mrs. Shea, their sponsor, urge them never to break this old and commendable tradition. This is a way of life at North and the 1961-1962 Cheerleaders have done much to uphold and strengthen our competitive Spirit.

"All set? You bet!"

BATON SQUAD

Adding to the colorful picture of fall and football were North's high-spirited Majorettes, led by Head Debbie Wye and Co-Heads Kathy Regan and Dottie McAdam, and sponsored by Mr. Merritt. As they showed their skill before the games and at half-time, the fact that they regularly spend three afternoons a week faithfully practising, including Fridays with the Band, was certainly obvious. At the games, they formed the letters N Q during our school song, and those of the other school during their song.

At the rallies held throughout the season, the Heads twirled to enthusiastic clapping, and finally at the biggest rally of the year for the Thanksgiving game, all the Majorettes, numbering about twenty-five, turned out to twirl before a record crowd. The next morning, they performed dressed as Indians, and helped to raise North's spirits to a tumultuous war cry for victory.

"Hup, two, three, four!"

SPIRIT COMMITTEE

Maureen, Deb, Janet, Eileen, and Ronnie build up Mr. Nolan's and Mr. Leone's spirit for the Leominster game.

A great contributing factor to North spirit this year was a new organization, the Spirit Committee. Headed by Janet D'Angelo and Deb Wye, the members of this committee devoted much of their time and energy to giving a boost to the already-high school spirit at North. They spent long week-ends, with paint brushes as companions, making the many inspiring signs that covered the cafeteria walls. They co-operated with the Cheerleaders in helping to plan our three football rallies and, of course, attended all the games, giving hoarse but loud vocal support to the team. They carried this support through the football season and into the basketball, hockey, and baseball seasons. Through their efforts, the teams knew that the school was behind them and everyone at North felt a new surge of school spirit.

GIRLS' CLUB

This year, one of North's most spirited groups is the Senior Girls' Club. Scheming, debating, planning, the twenty-five girls that constitute the Executive Board mapped out many and varied activities which made vivid impressions on the girls themselves, on the school, and on the remotest observer.

The Club's first major undertaking was the successful and novel "Can-Dango," the November record hop that had its practical as well as its social side. The cans of food collected at the dance helped to push the worthwhile Thanksgiving Food Collection over the top to new success. The Christmas project, the Pollard School Christmas Show, with the traditional Santa Clauses, candy canes, and carols, helped to capture the exuberance of the season.

Next, the girls commenced worrying about a more serious problem: the semi-formal. Their worrying was in vain. In the true tradition of North, "Heaven on Earth" was one of the year's greatest social successes. Finally, the girls turned their attention to the production of the Manet Show. The details were covered, the parts learned, nerves taut, and fingers crossed. The curtain rose on a Manet Show that left on both the players and the audience a successful impression that will endure for many years.

These are a few of the accomplishments of the 1962 Senior Girls' Club led by their Executive Board, their advisors, Mrs. Axelrod and Mrs. Hooker, and their officers, Sharon Williams, Mary McMahon, Sandy Olson, and Terri McCormick. This spirited club is sure to leave a meaningful and lasting impression on North.

Girls' Club cut-ups: Linda, Terri, and Mary.

Terri and Sharon can a pyramid as Mary looks on disapprovingly.

BOYS' BOWLING

Bob strikes out.

Gordie and Kev are impressed with Fred's league-leading average.

Under the leadership of Mr. Paul Carlin, North's Boys' Bowling League this year began a new program of inter-scholastic competition. Besides competing on their regular teams every Tuesday, North's bowlers competed against teams from Malden Catholic and Boston Latin in a program which Mr. Carlin hopes will become a regular part of the league's activities.

The league, although it is only in its second year, has grown to 14 teams with over 60 boys participating and has produced several 100+ averages topped by Fred Morris who had high average (108), high single (142), and high three (396) for the year. Behind Fred, Wayne Beach, Gordie Mathieson, Dave Dahloros, and Bob Uskins headed the league's individual standings. This year the league will award trophies for the best individual efforts and for the top teams and next year looks forward to having the most complete bowling program in high school circles.

GIRLS' BOWLING

Every Monday afternoon forty-eight girls can be found rolling or lobbing balls down the alleys for strikes, spares, eights, fives, threes, or zeros. With so much food and fun the girls can not help being in high spirits whether or not their balls make good impressions on the pins. Under the sponsorship of Miss McCoy and the leadership of president Helen Regan, vice-president Patricia McGue, secretary Janet Teed, and treasurer Marie Sheehan the Girls' Bowling Club is one of the most active of North's clubs. The biggest impression of the year is always the annual banquet in May at which trophies are awarded to the girl with the highest average, with the highest single score, with the best attendance, and with the most improved average. The girls then have an opportunity to express their thanks to Miss McCoy for her spirit in making the club a success.

Helen bowls Pat, Janet, and Marie over with laughter as they check their scores.

Helen and Elaine find that "they don't make bowling balls like they used to."

Joan, Wallace, Leila, Ray, Dianne, and Mr. Waugh prove inductively that gas is a prerequisite for bunsen burner ignition.

SCIENCE CLUB

Chris and Judy attempt to titrate NaOH as Bob looks sourly on.

The dedicated spirit of the Science Club shows itself in an atmosphere of studied concentration in Room 429, filled to capacity every Wednesday afternoon. Present to supervise the proceedings are the officers: Joan Simpson, president; Leila Nash, vice-president; Diane Smith, secretary; Linda Shay, assistant secretary; Wallace Wrigley, treasurer; and James Gill, manager of audio-visual material. As in the past, the entire Science faculty act as sponsors, so that a teacher is always available after the business meeting to speak on a particular topic and to give advice on projects.

Not wishing to limit its benefits to members, the Club provides transportation to lectures and classes, among them the Popular Science Series at M.I.T., and to museums and special programs. Those outside the Club are also invited to enter a project in the annual Science Fair. Judging from the number of exhibits, a great many take advantage of this opportunity.

In order to manage a successful fair, members must raise money, and since suggestions for raising it are never plentiful, it took considerable wracking of brains to produce the radical ideas of putting on a Submarine Supper and Dance. Thus, desperate but spirited scientists broke the unwritten law that test tubes and dancing don't mix, and raised enough money to make this year's Science Fair a remarkable achievement.

B A N D

Joanie and Joyce lend spirited support to George, Ralph, Deb, Paul, and Tom.

North's 68-piece Class A band is a constant contributor to spirit. Under the leadership of Mr. Ferrante and President Ralph Paul, Vice President Paul Henderson, Secretary Thomas Lyons, and Treasurer George Billard, the band makes over 25 public appearances during the year. Listeners, old and young alike, are impressed by the versatility of the band as it switches from traditional music to modern; from spirited marches to soothing rhapsodies; from the lively Spanish "Amparito Roca" to the solemn strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" The band contributes school spirit to football rallies and games; Christmas spirit to the annual Christmas assembly and Parade; national spirit to the Veterans' Day and Memorial Day Parades; local spirit to the United Fund Parade; and a special solemn spirit to our Graduation Exercises. The band also produces a favorable impression of North through the participation of some of its members in the All-City Instrumental Demonstration, the All-City Instrumental Concert, the Annual Southeastern Mass. Music Festival and Competition, the All-Star Southeastern District Band, and the All-State Band. After months of diligent practice, the band reaches its crescendo in North's Annual Spring Concert.

BOYS' STUDENT LEADERS

Walter's coordination on the parallel bars impresses Reggie, Marty, Tom, and Richie.

Perhaps the most ostensible sign of North's spirit in the Phys Ed department is the esprit de corps shown by the Boys' Student Leaders who meet every day seventh period under the supervision of Coach Rickson. With little regard for their own life and limb and total disregard for those of any casual passers-by, these well-coordinated leaders speed through routines guaranteed to make the average Phys Ed student break out in a cold sweat.

On the more prosaic side, however, these same student leaders stand ready to help Mr. Rickson with his over-sized gym classes and, as a sideline, represent North in the various state and school gymnastic meets open to them. In the past this group has produced a state "free-ex" champ and with their spirited dedication to the ideals of physical fitness they should produce many more.

The shutter of a camera is no match for Sam's agility.

GIRLS' STUDENT LEADERS

The spirit of these girls is not held down by the gravity of the situation.

When we want to see female spirit in advanced gymnastics, in parade drill, in pyramid formation, in stunts, in tumbling, in short, in feats of body coordination and circus-perfect poise, we page Miss McCoy and her Student Leaders: Diane Bossi, Cathy Conner, Joan Del Gallo, Marjorie De Korte, Ruthann Fitzgerald, Maureen Fontaine, Jeanne Giallongo, Linda Gordan, Roxanne Goward, Mary Hay, Sheila Kelly, Sandra Leach, Susan Jacob, Diane McDonald, Joan Simpson, Diane Smith, Carole Pierce, Susan Perry, Joan Welch, Pamela Newton, Cynthia Lindahl, Beverly Zinkus, Charlotte Wiley, Linda Pratt, Phyllis McIsaac, Susan Shurman, Leila Nash, Linda Mercandante, Pamela Pearce, Kathy McLaughlin, Carol Nurse, Susan Muldoon, Linda Scott, Sandra Smart, and Kathy Whippen.

President Kennedy need have no fear.

GIRLS' SPORTS

Girls' Sports in the round.

"Come on, shoot! Guard that girl!" These are familiar cries to more than one hundred girls who crowd into North's gym each Tuesday afternoon to play Girls' Basketball. The scores may not be excessively high nor the action spectacularly fast, but there is more impressive spirit here than at any professional Celtics game. Spirited cheers show the spectators' admiration for the hook shots, lay-ups, and passes as these backboard whizzes release their pent-up energies on the basketball floor.

However, these girls are doing more than simply having an afternoon of fun. Under the leadership of Miss McCoy, they are learning the fine points of the sport as well as a sense of fair play and sportsmanship. The boys had better think twice before challenging these "Basket-Belles" to a game.

Leone's Lions appeal to the Great Spirit for their basketball.

GLEE CLUB

Mr. Bono directs Dick, Ronnie, Wayne, George, Craig, Karen, Sheila, Donna, Ginny, and Linda in an outdoor rehearsal for graduation.

Mr. Frank G. Bono sponsored North's Glee Club of two mixed choruses, a special choir, and a ninth-grade chorus through an impressive year musically. The club had for accompanists Carol Edmunds, Rosemary Palm, Sandra Olson, and Paula Shay.

Against a backdrop of modernistically-arranged Christmas tree ornaments the Glee Club sang a range of foreign and familiar carols from the festive God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen to the sacred spiritual Mary Had a Baby and so helped to create the Yuletide spirit at school. Again at its Spring Concert in May with a Pops setting, many students enjoyed the nearest thing to a Fiedler Symphony Hall Pop Concert that they had yet experienced in their lives.

Uniting with Quincy High's Chapel Choir, North's Choir provided the musical invocation for The Teachers Association fiftieth anniversary Pursuit of Excellence on November 7 at the Surf. Among the fortunate members who participated in the District Concert at Marshfield and the State Concert at Pittsfield were Paul Frazer, Charlotte Lantery, Carol Edmunds, Nancy Roberts, and Carol Green. Graduation night at the stadium the Glee Club sang for the last time this year.

RECEPTIONISTS

The Receptionists, 11th and 12th grade girls chosen for their poise and school spirit, with Mr. Roberts, as faculty sponsor, are North's welcoming committee. They greet visitors to the building and give them directions. When a visitor is early for an appointment, the receptionist may talk to him while he is waiting. The impression she leaves is very important because a visitor will judge North's student body by this one girl.

Besides taking care of visitors to the building, the receptionists act as guides to new students. The friendliness and orientation know-how of these girls have reduced the acclimating time of the new students. This impression is also important because the actions of the receptionists toward a new student symbolize the warmth and spirit both of North's student body and of the faculty. The humanity of our receptionists has always created an impression that has carried our spirit out into the community.

How can visitors to North possibly get lost when Ruth Ann, Barb, Helen, and Madelon are on the job?

M. P. P. C.

Many of our classroom projects sparkle with vitality and cultural breadth largely because we have such an active and well-stocked visual aids department. And as happens in Filmland, we must have a director and a trained corps of picture operators. Thus our Motion Picture Projectionist Club was born some years ago and has grown into one of our leading service groups. This year Mr. Mason is sponsor, Russell MacNeil is president, William Viator is vice-president, and Walter Pitts is secretary-treasurer.

In addition to stocking, assigning, and running off the films, the boys take on with equal facility the roles of backstage mechanics and lighting-booth specialists. So you see much of the magic and the artistry of our Christmas program, our special assemblies, and our Spring Music Concert is the result of the right men in the right place at the right time to press the right button.

Mr. Mason and his marauders.

CLASS DAY COMMITTEE

This year the Class Day Committee, consisting of Bonnie Denisen, Ralph Anderson, Paul Gullicksen, Ronnie Kaufman, Ronnie White, Sandy Colletti, and Peter O'Neill, planned a fun-filled day for the Class of 1962. First, they selected beautiful Lake Pearl for the annual picnic and gave the seniors plenty of time to dream up their crazy costumes, from Squantum beachcombers to causeway hot-rodders. Then they organized the nighttime activities: the senior banquet and farewell dance. They also started something new this year—giving a keepsake of North's spirit: Class Day sweatshirts to everyone.

All year the seniors had looked forward to May 31 with high expectations and they were not disappointed. They met at North to receive their long-awaited Manets and went on to an exciting and eventful Class Day which was, in truth, their last fling together before graduation.

LEDGER

CORRESPONDENTS

At least once a month a column describing North's activities has appeared in The Patriot Ledger. The script for this public relations project has been prepared by Judy Perley, Judy Greene, and Sandra Colletti, the trio officially identified as the Correspondence Committee. These girls, who are also actively associated with our school paper, have the know-how, which this year so successfully kept both our alumni and the citizens of the city of Quincy up to date on the academic, organizational, and social life at North Quincy High, areas so often neglected in favor of just athletic activity.

The generating spirit of these girls has made such an accepted impression on all that we feel confident that their heritage will be the very spark to set off a spirited group to continue this project next year.

TEACHERS' CAREER CLUB

From whence the breed springs: Linda, Rita and Judy.

This year led by Mr. Savitsky, President Judy Greene, Vice-President Rita Swartz, Secretary Carol Green, and Treasurer Linda Hardy, the Teachers' Career Club observed teaching from professional and social aspects. Professionally, it invited teachers from phases of education to lecture. Most dynamic was Miss Victoria Chew, a second-grade teacher at the Atherton Hough School, who missed nary a nuance in elementary school teaching.

Socially, it attended activities like the Teachers' Recruitment Program in early December at which Kappa Delta Gamma, the local chapter of Honorary Women in Education, was hostess, and had a delightfully catered Valentine breakfast meeting and a closing meeting banquet at the Dolphin, the smart new restaurant on the banks of the Neponset River. All in all, to crystallize its effectiveness, the Club affiliated with the Future Teachers of America.

DRAMATIC CLUB

Paul, Karen, and Dick: We are such stuff as rehearsals are made on.

True to the tradition of the theater, the Dramatic Club thought nothing of braving the elements and burning the midnight oil to have their offerings ready on time. The club is sponsored by Mrs. Donovan. Its officers are President Linda Shay, Vice-President Karen Labuzoski, Secretary Virginia Lanza, Treasurer Paul Frazer, and Assistant Director Richard Riley. Members have put in many faithful hours, particularly in rehearsing for their productions. Our Town by Thornton Wilder, which was presented on February 7, was a tremendous success. Seniors in the cast included George Billard, Carol Edmunds, Paul Frazer, Richard Riley, and Linda Shay. In May members again exhibited their talent in Tons of Money, one of the most comical farces most of us have ever seen. Indeed, the Dramatic Club's spirit of projecting fear, anger, curiosity, joy, and happiness right over the footlights left the audience with the lasting impressions of a year of satisfying high-school theater.

RED CROSS COUNCIL

Cynthia and Miss Enos patch things up for the Red Cross Council.

The Red Cross Council is one of North's most active civic organizations. Although its work is largely for the community, the student body sees the Council in action when it initiates the campaign for the National Red Cross Drive through homerooms and when it presents the Civil Defense assembly for the school. Under the direction of their sponsor, Miss Enos, and officers Mary Ann Joyce, Cynthia Lindahl, and Susan Schurman the girls have made covers for Braille books and stuffed animals for The Children's Hospital. For the past two years the Council has sent girls to the Friel Nursing Home in Wollaston where some of the girls give a few hours after school two days a week to help the occupational therapist work with the patients. With all their good deeds, the girls of the Red Cross Council have the kind of spirit that never fails to impress people.

SCRAPBOOK COMMITTEE

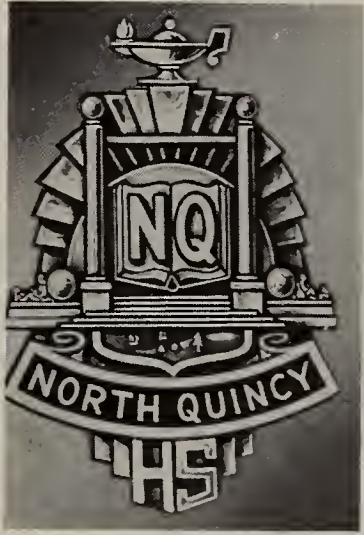

VARSITY CLUB

An existing example of North's spirit and determination is this year's Varsity Club. About to be disbanded at the beginning of the school year, the club was brought into reality largely on account of efforts made by prospective members. This visible proof of North's achievement through determination has become an integral part of school life. Sponsored by Mr. Laing, the Varsity Club is composed of members of North's Athletic squads. Officers include: President Thomas Fallon, Vice President John Forristall, Secretary David Zoia, and Treasurer William Callahan. Once formed, the club and its members combined their spirit to provide jackets for the senior boys on the football team and to put on a successful semi-formal in March.

Bob, Jan and Pat filter through the scrap looking for class news.

Ed cannot fathom why John takes so long to spring into his uniform.

Coach Leone

The 1961 football season brought the start of a new regime at North. The Raiders' new coach Mr. Leone is only the second coach at North since the opening of the school. Succeeding Mr. Donahue, Mr. Leone has brought more than just something new in the coaching department: the whole system of plays, the uniforms, and the assistant coaches are new. Joining Mr. Sadowski were Mr. Nolan and Mr. Rogers to back up Mr. Leone during the season.

The second generation started out with a bang as North beat the big Stoughton team 6-0. With Milton it was another story, however, Milton out-playing North for a 22-12 score. The Raiders bounced back with a 14-8 win over Taunton and then trounced Cambridge Latin 20-8. Although determined to keep on winning, the Raiders met with a tough Braintree team and were shut-out 14-0. In the next game North was far from home, but well represented by the crowd the Booster Bus brought. To the disappointment of all these loyal followers North was beaten by Leominster 18-0.

After this succession of losses the Raiders determined to get back on the winning trail. North prepared for the Dedham game with renewed enthusiasm. Despite their efforts the Raiders lost a heartbreaker 18-12. Hingham too provided the same fate, with Hingham beating North 24-8.

Though discouraged by these losses the Raiders worked for the Quincy game with the spirit that has motivated North's football teams ever since the first Thanksgiving game. But on "Turkey Day" the North end of the city was in a gloom, for a truly better Quincy team downed the Raiders 20-0. Thus came the end of the season.

Though the Seniors are gone, in the next few years the new regime will be settled with Mr. Leone's new system and the Seniors can come back and see North have great success during the season and provide winning records for the new coach.

Out of countless practice sessions and scrimmages, North's basketball team of 1961-62 emerged as an impressive threat to every other team in the Greater Boston League. Although plagued by a lack of height, the Raiders manifested more than enough determination, patience, and drive to overcome early season handicaps.

In the well-balanced league, North took two games each from Everett, Lowell, and Revere. A highlight of the season was an upset victory against Tech Tourney contender Chelsea at the Chelsea court.

The success of the team can be attributed both to the spirited leadership of Coach Ken Rickson and Co-captains Dave Cahill and Paul Gullicksen, and to the overall hard work and team play of the entire squad.

HOCKEY

Under the direction of Coach Bob Laing, the best hockey team North has seen in many years opened its Metropolitan Hockey League games with a heart-breaking defeat at the hands of city-rival Quincy. However, the Raiders, led by co-captains John Stimberis and Ralph Anderson, skated back with a 4-0 victory over Chelsea.

Next, Everett tied North 1-1 and again the Red-men responded by skating up a victory, this time over Revere, 4-2. Christopher Columbus, currently in first position in the league, fought hard but the Raider ice-men were able to keep them to a 1-1 tie. North finished out the first half of its schedule with two victories: 4-2 over Don Bosco and 4-3 over Malden.

Again North prepared to meet Quincy. This time, however, the Raiders were ready in both spirit and skill. They defeated the Presidents 3-1 for the first time since 1953 in one of the most exciting games of the season and they also drew the largest crowd ever to watch a Metropolitan Hockey League game. The Red Raiders blanked their next two opponents, Chelsea and Everett, 8-0 and 4-0 respectively. At the present time Bob Campbell is high scorer for the team with 15 points and, with 4 games remaining and a 7-1-2 record, North is tied for second place in the league and is looking forward to finishing one of its most successful seasons on the ice.

North's 1961-62 season started under the leadership of a new coach, Jerry Lyons. A small, young, and inexperienced group responded to the call but the results gave considerable promise for the next several years. Sophomores Marty Butler and Roger Frechette took turns as the lead North man, while Junior Bob Nocher was the third man, closely followed by Sophomores Bill Cadger and Al Johnson. The main meets with strong Quincy and Weymouth harriers were split, indicating that the team will be watched next year.

The same pattern followed in Winter Track. It has been a building year, dominated by sophomores and supported by good seniors and juniors. The record in the Met League was the same as last year's senior star-studded team which won three and lost two. The outstanding trackman of the indoor season was co-captain Jim Sumner, who tied a twelve-year-old Met League record in the 300. Other leaders were Bob Clifford and Bob Chute in the high jump and hurdles, Mike Conley placing fifth in the State Class A 1000, and co-captain Dick Kemp in the shot-put. Sophomores Roger Frechette and Dick McCulley scored more points than any other tenth graders have ever scored before.

The way the Winter Track team has developed, it looks as though North will produce another fine team this spring. Coach Bob Gentry and Spring Track co-captains Mike Conley and Bob Clifford will be out to defend the Suburban League Championship which North won last year.

B A S E B A L L

The 1962 baseball season could be one of the most difficult faced by North in years. Several factors contribute to this gloomy outlook: the loss of a greater part of the 1961 team through graduation leaving only three veterans who played regularly on last year's first team; the lack of proper practice facilities; and more recently, the loss of the use of the old gym for early-season battery practice. Besides these problems, North Quincy still remains one of the only teams on the South Shore that are not affiliated with a league, which makes the task of scheduling most difficult. This unfortunate situation deprives the Raiders of games with teams that are its natural area rivals, and, no doubt, this affects the student interest in the team.

On the brighter side of the ledger, however, North will have the services of two senior veterans, Charles Chambers and James Vena, both of whom did a fine job in the outfield last season. Chambers occasionally took a turn on the mound, while Vena was a regular catcher in his Junior Varsity days. Junior Philip Crowley, a great pitcher, will be back to lead the mound staff. Other Senior players from the 1961 squad are Vincent De Santis and George Camia both of whom saw limited service on last year's team.

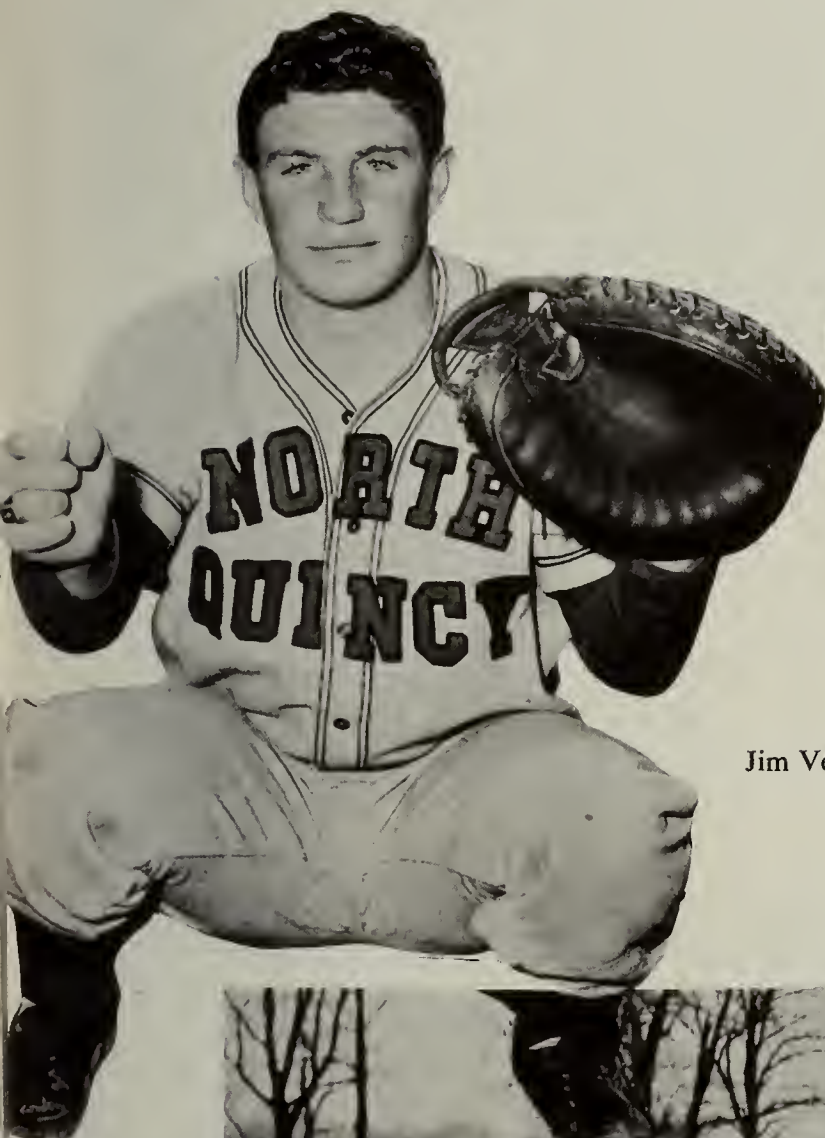

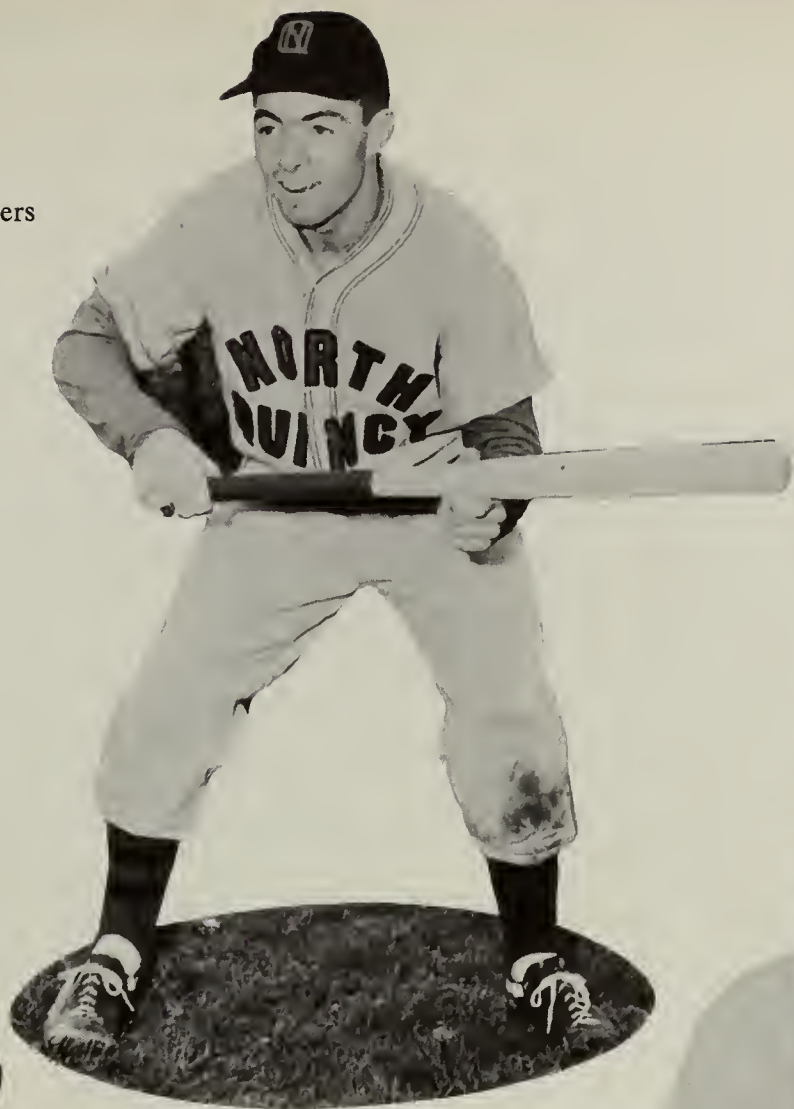

It is anticipated that there will be several candidates for the team who played for Central last year, and some of these boys, whose ability is unknown to the coaches at North could be pleasant surprises.

As to the outlook for the coming campaign, the team will be young as the scarcity of Senior veterans would indicate; it should have strong pitching; there should be a real battle for many of the starting jobs, a situation that has never hurt any team. North teams of the past few seasons have lacked real offensive power at the plate where many close games could have been won by a timely hit. Hitting will be the real key to a successful team for the season ahead.

The soccer team had, for the first time in its history, experienced seniors this year. These boys began playing three years ago when soccer was first introduced at North. The boys scored four wins and one tie out of their twelve games. The high points of the season occurred when they twice beat Quincy with scores of 2-0 and 3-0. This was a great gain to our prestige! The other wins were from Norwell, 4-1, and from Sharon, 1-0, which holds first place in the league.

Outstanding players in these games and in lost games, too, were Co-captains Bob Braga, the high scorer, and Brian Moore; fullbacks John Stimberis and Bill Jones; and goalie Dick Poore. Mr. Stanton was proud of the boys when they tied the always-good Duxbury team 1-1. Dick Poore was largely responsible for the success of the team, for the four wins and the tie were gained at times when he was outstanding at the goal. Inside-left Richie Berry, right-wing Dick Caliri, and left-wing Bill Mackey also performed commendably during the season.

Although both games with Thayer were lost, 4-1 and 2-1, the boys played good ball and gained much in valuable experience. Whether winning or losing, these boys combine competitive spirit and good sportsmanship in a way that will meet the approval of the most critical spectators and leave a lasting impression that North can be proud of.

Mal demonstrates his back hand as teammates Dick, Larry, and Frank make constructive criticism.

This year's tennis team is one displaying enthusiasm, skill, and determination. Its goal is a perfect season. The team, under the able direction of Mr. Roy Sinclair, is to be built around three returning players, Lawrence Dworkin and Francis Rull, seniors, and Warren Gillis. The 1961 season ended with a record of three wins and eight losses, but both hopes and expectations are running high that this year will bring a great improvement. North's team will be again playing in the South Shore League. Some of the year's more spirited games are to be played against Hingham, Scituate, and Quincy. If spirit and determination mixed with ability do produce results, there can be no doubt that North's tennis team will enjoy a triumphant season.

GOLF

As the 1962 South Shore High School Golf League opens another season, North's Raiders look forward to another successful season and possibly the league crown. Although Senior Dan O'Sullivan and Junior Bob Askin are the team's only returning members, Coach John Donahue hopes that the turnout of underclassmen will be sufficient to strengthen the club.

This year North has its longest schedule ever with sixteen matches with schools from Quincy, Cohasset, Scituate, Weymouth, Hingham, and Bridgewater, including non-league contests with Brockton and Archbishop Williams. The extension of games beyond the League will give the Raiders a better opportunity to boost North's good, but not outstanding, record of 1961.

All in all, North's success this year will depend on the experience of its returning players, the shaping up of the recruits, and the emphasis that the school officials put on golf as a major high school sport.

Bob and Ralph reflect the intensity with which not only the copy for golf but also the copy for all our other sports is written behind the scenes.

Spirit through

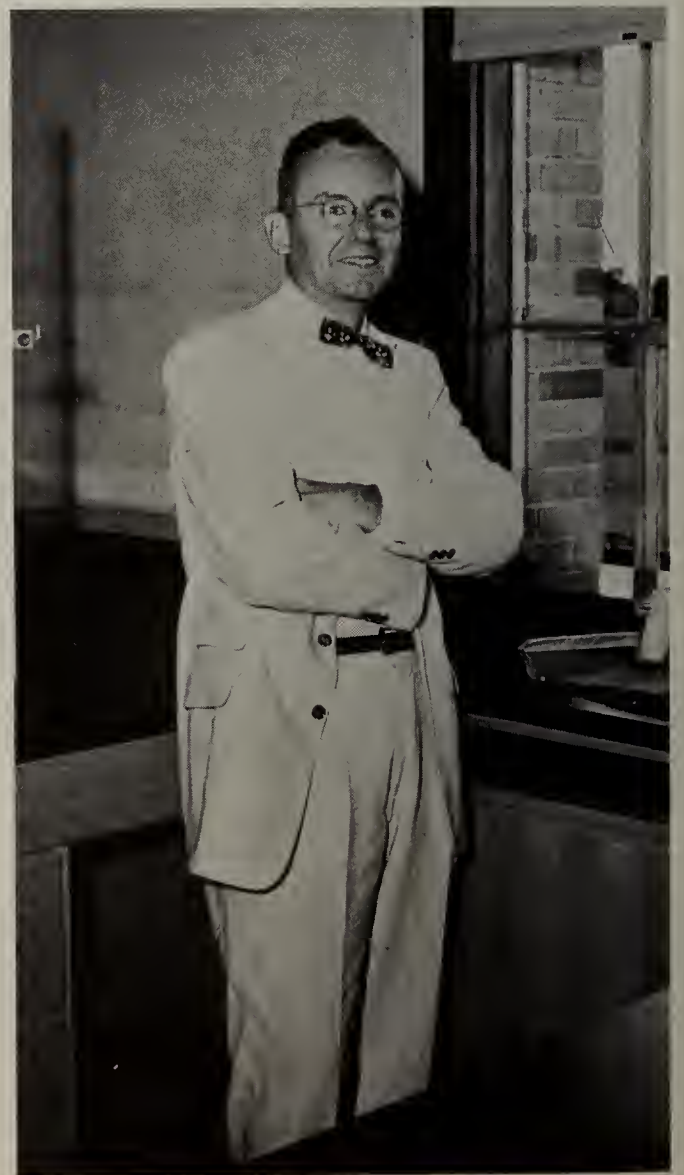

JOHN W. WALSH
Principal

Spirit, North's great tradition, is revealed by the impressions of a school in action. These range from the performance of an individual to the behavior of the group. We see it in the faded blue ribbon in the trophy case—North's first award—given a befriended stray kitten in the opening days of the school's existence. It may be found in the heroism that awarded Congressional Medals of Honor to two alumni, in scholastic triumphs on a national scale, in the valiant struggle of a humble individual against discouraging odds, in a throng standing in bone-chilling rain to cheer a team dispirited in muddled defeat, in community service, in aid to the underprivileged, in loyal support to whatever endeavor undertaken. We feel it in a desire for personal excellence, a respect for competence, an enthusiasm to serve, a zest for living—the very antithesis of bored complacency. Those touched by the spirit at North and uplifted will forever be a part of it.

A D V E R T I S I N G

Mary, Joe, Bill, Nancy, Art, and Pete.

To you, the 1962 Manet is a memory book. To us, the editors, it is a little bit more. It is a record of North's spirit through impressions for you, but for us it is also a record produced through the close association and cooperation of many people. We alone could have done nothing. We are indebted to our staffs, our patrons and advertisers, our publisher Mr. Roswell Farnham, our school photographer Mr. James Bleiler, and most of all our adviser Mr. John Hofferty. To all, our sincerest Thank You.

The Editors

THANK YOU, Patrons and Advertisers! Your generous spirit is one of our most valued impressions.
